

Raiders of the Lost Ark

Walton Fine Arts Gallery is hosting an exhibition of American artist Robert Indiana (1928-present) from September 19 until October 31. Indiana was a prominent figure during the 1960s Pop Art movement, alongside Andy Warhol and Roy Lichtenstein. In his work he explores the concept of American identity, using the power of language and abstract techniques. His most well-known work is the iconic LOVE series, sculptures of which can be found in cities across the world including Tokyo and Israel. The exhibition at the gallery will run alongside the world's first retrospective of Indiana's work at the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York, and will offer London art lovers and collectors the chance to view and purchase a selection of his works.
